FOR PRESIDENT, WINFIELD SCOTT, OF NEW JERSET.

ISAAC P. HAZARD lef Sewport. AMOS D. SMITH, of Frevidence, CHARLES ALLEN, of Horth, Singalows,

II The occasional disestisfaction which was expressed by some when the nominations of the Whig National Convention were first announced, has nearly all passed away, and most all these gen tlemen are now coming into the ranks, and manifesting a determination to give a warm and strong support to Scott & Graham. This is right and proper for no party can long exist, unless all ite members abide; by the Convention nominations, and support the regular nominees, be they who they may. We have conversed with many gentlemen now here from various parts of the conntry, and they all give us the most en couraging accounts of good feeling and unity in the Whig party, in their yarious sections... As soon as the warm weather is over, and the excitement of the campaign fairly commences, the whole Whig party will be aroused to action as thoroughy as it was in 1848 .-All candid men are estisfied with the administration of Millard Fillmore, tor there is no act of his which can reasonsbly be found fault with; and we all know that Gen. Scott, if elected, will continue the policy which has guided President Fillmore, and caused his admintstration to be a model for succeeding Presidents who have the best interests of the country at heart. As a states man, Gen. Scott has been repeatedly tried in South Carolina, on the North ern frontier, twice, and in Mexico: and on all occasions he exhibited a high order of talent, independent of his military genius and abilities. The duties which he performed on these occasions were of an exceedingly delicate nature, -and he was fully equal to the emergency, and honored his country and added to her fame. His talente us a statesman are of a far higher order, than those of Gen. Pierce, and he has had far greater experience and been much more se-

The majority of the people of this country are Whige, and we have only to make a grand raily, and we are sure of the election of Scott & Graham, by s triumphant vote. Scott was never defeated, and in whatever position he has been placed, from Chippewa to the City of Mexico, he has always added new lustre to our national renown, and given increased power to our National char ncter. Now we will fill the measure of his fame by placing earth's greatest civic wreath around his veteran, and honored brow.

T 红字The effect of the Maine Law in this town has been to deluge some cellars with ardent spirits which hereto fore were innocent, so far as bottles and casks were concerned. Intemperance is a terrible evil-all will admit that -but intolerance is a greater; the one its miserable victim for a few brief, unhappy hours,-the other darkens himfor all time. There is something remarkably ridiculous in talking about freedom, and submitting to Tyrannysomething iseffably stupid in asserting that a man can do as he likes, when a miserable opy, appointed by law, can compel you to pay twenty dollars for selling a bottle of wine. Talk as we may of European tyranoy, there is no tyranny so despotic as that exercised by petty men who, unable to govern themselves, are impertinent enough to at tempt to govern others. Not one gal Ion less of wine or apirits will be used in Newport than before; probably much more will be disposed, for nearly all our dealers have sold out their stocks which is distributed among families,and it is very certain, for it is human nature's frailty, that the more liquor s man has by him, the more and oftener will be drink

fray occurred in Mesers. Newton's stare; so tar as we can ascertain, the following are the particulars of this "difficulty";--It appears that an old gentleman named Port, a rather crusty character, came in collision with a Ten-chest, who with some importance informed Mr. Port that it was Ais turn now. Mr. Port immediately retired to his bin, consulted with his friend Mr. Sherry, and by his advice endeavored to compromise matters with the irritable inhabitant of the Congoucase. It was all in vain. By mare accident the parties met in the store of Newton Brothers, to which place Mr. Port had gone for the purpose of purchasing a cheese to serve for a target, and Mr. Chin-chon to see a young lady, named Hyson. Mr. Port with warmth informed Mr. Chin-chon that he was a miserable less and always getting into hot watter,-to which Mr. Chia-chon mildly replied that at least he did not change any one's nose by purpling it .took off his cark, stretched his neck and flooded his opponent. A person named Claret poured himself out in defence of Mr. Port, and a stout old fellow who gurgled out something respecting Barclay & Perkins rushed into the moles exclaiming mildly, " Our Vic. won't have it—Britaine never will be slaves !" The row now becoming general, Mr. Coffee quitted his canister and said on his aroma he could bear it no longer; and an individual called Starch very stiffly enquired what those dead men (pointing at the belligerent bottles) meant? The unfortunate individual was immediately knocked down by a bar of Soap, and some Washing Powder thrown in his eves. It was to vain that the whole establishment of the Newtons attempted to restore chaos to anything like order. Nutmegs flew in all directions, and Peppers peppered away in what they called a hot fire. Sugar tried choked with passion. The Ten party was trlumphant in the sed, and we beat that one of the leading members of the table latend nominating a Speen as an appropriate successor of the Mayor of Providence, who enjoyed the view from a window of the Die-united States .

THE OBSEQUIES IN KENTUCHY .- The Ciny Guard" of Cincinnati, who es corted the remains of the great statesman from that city to the place of their sepulture, represent the ceremonies at Lexington and Athland, as far surpassing in solemnity, anything witnessed elsewhere. Every house, it appeared to them, was clothed in black, in respect to the venerated Sage of Ashland .- No matter what were their respective sintions in life, what position in polities, what color in complexion-all-all bowed down on a common level in giving unrestrained vent to the deep grie which they felt in the consciousness that their friend—their beloved fellow citizen -the pride of their State-ton honored of the nation-the admired of the world. was to their own midst, and among his N P Balley & I own kindred descending to the tomb .-From other sources we obtain similar accounts, not only with regard to Ash- w s Maswell land, but Frankfort, Lexington, Louis- | B B Carts ville, &c. One writer says, (dating at Lexington,) "As we walk through the city, we see it crowded in every direction by the friends of the illustrious dead: many of whom came 50 or 60 miles to be present at his funeral. We saw several gray haired old men copiously shed tears as the bier passed them, On the way from Cincinnati to Louisville, a conversation, in which Judge Underwood and many gentlemen took part, in Mr. Guanlagham which the traits that distinguished the character of Henry Clay were benefifully portrayed, was not the least agreeable feature of the journey. To the young men the Judge addressed some pertinent remarks, holding before them as the model of their imitation the life and actions of Henry Clay. His discourse made a deep impression on his attentive listeners, and at the recital of some of the early deeds of Mr. Clay, many a tear gluteded in the eyes of

A KITTER TRANSLATED.-On the 5th inst. as a gentleman of this city was looking out a window, he saw a black kitten fall post him appearently from the top of the house, and expected to see it dashed dead upon the sidewalk; but contrary to his expectations, when it reached the ground it began to walk .--Some children, supposing it to be injured, took it in and gave it some milk, which it lapped in the usual style. The next morning the lady of the house went into the cellar to give it some more milk, when, strange to relate, it desired past her a distance of twenty feet, without touching the ground, and west out of the house, secended upwards into the air more rapidly than it had fallen down the day before, and was soon lost to view among the clouds. Improbable as these statements appear, they were made to us by a medical gentleman of sanity and love of truth we do not entertain a doubt. We recommend this singular phenomenon to the attention of the editor of the Spiritual Telegraph.- Boston Allas.

And as recently the benefit of this article over the clear oil; the following case, by Professor Stone; is sufficient to convince the most secution!—The young lady was 24 years of age.

"Her disease was one of unmixed phthisis, which had been expected to terminate in the course of a few months fatally. The upper part of both her lungs area filled with toberces, and in some places were beginning to coften. The case was extending a level one. The treatment of, Con Liver Oil was at first used, but without marked improvement. The Phosphate of Line was then administered with the Oil, and the result, as in the case of many others, was soon apparent.—The parient was rapidly getting well."
